Hardwoods Stand the Test of Time

When purchasing a new home, most homeowners will be faced with a significant monthly mortgage payment. While this payment will include your property and the structure of the home itself, there are also many other items that will be included in that payment. You will be paying for these items throughout the term of your mortgage, which in most cases can be as long as 30 years. Which items represent the most value throughout the term of your mortgage, and which items are you paying for well after they have been replaced?

Items such as appliances, plumbing and lighting fixtures, and heating and cooling systems are necessities. These items will likely not last a full 30 years or will need to be replaced due to changing design trends. There are choices you can make that will provide value and beauty both now and in the future. The most significant of these choices is flooring.

Carpeting: Carpeting is a moderately priced flooring solution but will have an average life span of just a few short years. Carpet represents one of the lower values in flooring options.

Tile: Tile is more costly than carpet in most cases, but generally more durable. The changing trends in interior design mean its life expectancy will average about 10 years. Therefore, homeowners will be paying for tile 3 times over the life of their mortgage.

Hardwood Flooring: Hardwood flooring is by far the best value for the life of your mortgage and beyond. If well-cared for and maintained, hardwood flooring can last for generations. With the ability to be refinished, hardwood can be altered to address any current trends in design. Hardwood flooring is a natural product that provides enduring beauty and lasts a lifetime. Therefore, the natural choice for any home is also the best value: Quality hardwood flooring.

Harman Hardwood Flooring has been Rochester's choice for hardwood for 3 generations. Brothers Peter, Tom and Dave have carried on the tradition set by their father, Robert, by providing expert advice and the highest quality flooring available at the very best prices. The selection at their downtown showroom at 29 Hebard Street is second to none, with product offerings that cannot be found elsewhere. In addition, their dedication to carrying only finely milled flooring and their understanding of the installation process ensures spectacular results for your home. If you're looking for value and selection from true professionals, look no further than the Harman Flooring Company.

Refresh Your Home with New Floors

Minor upgrades to your home can make a big difference. The good news is that a home refresh doesn't always require a significant renovation. New flooring can change the look and feel of your home. Aside from style and décor, there are several factors to consider when deciding what flooring material to select when purchasing new floors. Cost, durability, moisture, and maintenance are important factors to consider in your new flooring choice and the area in your home you'll be refreshing. Here are some popular floor options among homeowners to help you evaluate what works best for your home.

Hardwood. According to a recent home buyer preferences survey by the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB), an overwhelming share (81%) of home buyers said they want hardwood floors on their main living spaces. This popular flooring type is available in a various wood species, such as oak, cherry, and maple. Wood floors can be beautiful and durable if they are well-maintained.

Laminate. A popular, less expensive alternative to hardwood floors is laminate. This type of flooring option comprises of various wood-based materials layered together, which are 'laminated' and finished off with a photographic imprint. Generally, laminate is available in tiles or planks and are relatively easy to install and maintain. However, laminate flooring is a viable option if you still want the look of hardwood floors without having them. Laminate is also more resistant to scuffs and scratches.

Tile. Porcelain and ceramic tiles come in beautiful designs, including diamond, herringbone, chevron, and basketweave, with shapes including circles, squares, rectangles, and triangles. The variety of designs may be one of the reasons why nearly two-thirds (64%) of home buyers prefer tile as a flooring choice in their main living areas. In addition, porcelain tile offers easy maintenance, durability, and stain and slip resistance.

Carpet. Depending on depth and fiber type, carpet can provide warmth and reduce noise. Carpet depth is categorized by low pile, medium pile, and high pile, most of which are available in various textures. Textures are created by the thickness of the yarn and how it is woven together to make the carpet. Regular maintenance or hiring professional carpet cleaners is recommended with this option to keep your floor looking and feeling fresh year-round.

Vinyl. Cost-conscious home owners in search of a resilient flooring option should consider vinyl. Unlike other types of flooring, vinyl is ideal for areas in your home prone to moisture, such as laundry rooms or basements. Vinyl has adhesive and is available in sheets or tiles. Repairing damaged vinyl is as easy as removing and replacing it. However, there are several limitations to this type of floor. Vinyl is likely to scratch, can vary in quality and may not have a contemporary look compared to other flooring options.

A careful mix of flooring materials can make for a long-lasting and beautiful home and provide comfort for the pattering of many feet throughout the years. With the many options available, it's hard to go wrong. For more information about flooring options or other home renovations, find your home professional at FindTheHomePros.com

Pro Tips for Virtual House Hunting

If you're planning to buy a home but you're not quite ready to view several dozen homes in person, start by looking at homes online. You'll be surprised by the number of online showrooms, photos and even 3D videos available of homes to help you narrow down your search. Websites such as Realtor.com, Redfin.com, Trulia.com and your local custom home builders have detailed information about home interiors. Following are a few expert tips to help you organize and find information to support your virtual house hunt.

Create a List. If you are navigating many websites or watching hours of home videos online, make a list of the homes you enjoyed viewing. Keep careful notes of the listing descriptions. By creating a note taking system that works for you, you'll be able to easily compare properties when you are ready to narrow down your list. Don't forget to make a list of questions about the property you may have for the realtor.

Ask About Floor Plans. If you're not physically walking through the home, it might be challenging to visualize the space by only scrolling through photos online. Ask a realtor for a copy of the home's floor plan. Once you have an idea of the layout and size of the space, you'll be able to get a better grasp of the photos or videos of the home.

Research the neighborhood. Not all websites with home listings will give you a sense of the neighborhood. To help get a complete profile of the home and make an informed decision about the area around your home, conduct a general online search about the neighborhood. You'll be surprised the amount of information you can learn about the activities that happen in the area or the local school system.

Drive by the home. If you are ready to get out of the house, what better way than to drive by the homes you are considering? You'll gain a better understanding of what amenities are nearby and a sense of the community.

Company of the Buffalo Bills

This is Scott's Story...

The RBA Difference (Maker)

The foundation of almost any successful business is built on its principles and then hiring people who can live up to those standards.

So, if you're the type of person who believes in the Law of Attraction, when Renewal by Andersen Installation Manager Scott Farina was hired on the spot, it was no accident.

"RBA has the reputation I believe in. They share the same values I have and have a product that is second to none."

After retiring from the Monroe County Sheriff's department as a Corporal, Scott was ready for new challenges. As luck would have it, a friend alerted him to an opening at RBA.

After starting as a Service Coordinator, Scott was promoted two more times in three years and is now the Installation Manager for the Rochester area. Along the way, Scott also achieved the rare distinction of the President's Award, issued to the employee who makes the most significant contribution to any department.

Just like the attention to detail that has earned Renewal by Andersen back-to-back years of winning the J.D. Power Award for Customer Satisfaction, Scott's disciplined approach to ensuring a successful installation has become the backbone to his team's success.

Scott and his team aren't just window installers; they are difference makers.

Mr. Farina's scope of work includes ensuring that all the pieces and parts are assigned to the appropriate jobs. He goes as far as going to job sites to ensure quality and customer satisfaction. This is the level of service that customers have come to expect. Renewal by Andersen strives to deliver delight and make a difference in every home we service. We keep our promises, set expectations, and deliver on them. Scott plays a key role in making that a reality. This is one of the reasons Renewal by Andersen of WNY consistently receives thousands of reviews on Google and is currently rated 4.8 stars out of 5. ★★★★★

Our relationships with our customers are defined by trust and respect. We understand that both are earned and that is reinforced by our daily interactions.

"Renewal by Andersen is such a great company because it starts at the top. Patricia Salamone (President, Renewal by Andersen of Western New York) is a great boss with a huge heart. If you have a great product and a great boss, you get a great atmosphere at work."

And that might be the true Renewal by Andersen difference.

Want a Modern Home Design? Try Creating Dark and Light Spaces.

With careful planning, modern home designs are within reach. One common approach is to use light and dark color combinations throughout your home, from paint colors to light and dark wood choices (usually on cabinets or floors), furniture, and even carpets or other décor items. If you're interested in creating a fresh look for your home, consider the following approaches to using dark and light hues to modernize your living spaces.

Dark Hues

Dark bold pieces or accents give any space depth and a traditional feel. For example, painting walls with dark colors allow art and other objects to stand out. Generally, dark colors like black thrive when paired with neutral tones. When together, it can create a more inviting and comfortable space. Having darker colors in homes is elegant, moody, chic, and sophisticated; most importantly, they always stay in style.

Light Hues

Adding white or light-colored furniture can make a room look more spacious, open, and airy. Painting walls or cabinets white allow for a blank palette to start a space with, which can then be the base for creativity to begin and shine through. Using white as a base gives leniency to play with other colors to stand out.

Combining Dark and Light Hues

Combining dark and light colors can also create an appealing space with a sense of organization and order by following the 80/20 rule. According to the American Institute of Interior Design, "As long as 80% of your interior is unified by the same style, period, or philosophy, you can deviate with the other 20%." This rule makes it easy to combine colors.

One way to bring more life to a space is by using different patterns, textures and even adding greenery. Combining dark and light colors creates a contrasting design and allows for substantial flexibility for accessorizing or accenting with a mix of colors to tell a story.

There is no answer to which design (dark or light) is better. Depending on how a room is styled, a dark or light choice can be one of the most simple, classic, and influential ways to design any interior, while the use of both shades can create a clear, powerful, and modern design.

Costich Engineering, Land Surveying & Landscape Architecture, D.P.C.

In 1977, Costich opened its first job number: 1.0 - North Forest Estates, a single-family residential subdivision for Bob Fallone of Fallone Properties, Ltd. -- this was our beginning to what has developed in Monroe County and surrounding areas. In the peak of the residential expansion of the 80's and 90's, Costich Engineering historically led the area in the amount of filed lots at the Monroe County Clerks Office. Today we continue to be one of the leaders in Residential Development. We have seen it all in regards to the evolution of the housing market in our area. We continue to design single-family residential projects, large subdivisions, townhouses, apartments and mixed-use developments. Visit our website or give us a call for more information.

How to Maximize Open House Weekend

Considering buying and/or selling a home? One of the most exciting steps in the home buying process is walking through the home you might live in one day. Whether it is a new or newly-renovated home, touring a home in person will help you with your purchasing decision.

Sellers and real estate agents often allow potential buyers to explore homes to generate interest through an open house. Potential buyers (or curious neighbors) can walk around the property and ask detailed questions about the home during an open house. If you are ready to attend an open house and want to make the most out of your visit, consider the following tips.

Meet the Listing Agent

Introduce yourself to the listing agent and let them know your interest in the home. The agent will provide their contact information, literature about the home and offer to show you the unique features. Fill in the sign-in sheet if available so the agent has your information as well.

Ask Specific Questions about the Home

You can learn the details of the home that are not listed online or in marketing materials by asking the agent the right questions. Ask if the home price has changed, how long the home has been on the market and what offers have been made to purchase the home. If the home price has dropped several times or has been on the market for a significant amount of time it could be a sign there are issues with the home. You may have room for price negotiation depending on how many offers have been made on the home.

Look for Potential Home Damage

Before purchasing a home, it is best practice to get a home inspection. Before you get to that point, at an open house you can spot problems by looking closely. Warped flooring or a musty smell can be a sign of previous water damage or flooding. Black spots near kitchen and bathroom sinks could indicate mold. The home could have foundation problems if you notice cracks in the ceiling or drywall. Beware of these red flags to avoid significant home repairs in the future.

Beware of Unfinished Construction

Sometimes a seller runs out of money to finish a home improvement project. If you see exposed wires or a stack of material in a corner of a room, ask the seller about it. This could also be a sign that a contractor had issues finishing a project due to structural issues. Either way, it's important to understand the underlying issue so you can be aware of what you may be dealing with. Some lenders may be unwilling to loan money if the house has unfinished construction.

Explore the Neighborhood

After viewing the home, walk and drive around the neighborhood. Any new development? How is the curb appeal of the nearby residents? If you notice several for sale signs in the front yards of homes on or near your block it maybe an underlying neighborhood issue. If you're interested in the home, drive by at different times on different days to gauge noise levels and traffic patterns.

For more information about upcoming open houses or information about the home buying process, consider contacting a real estate professional you'll find at FindTheHomePros.com.
